

SPONSORSHIP PROGRAM

ASME International, the OOAE Division of the International Petroleum Technology Institute (IPTI), and the German Society of Marine Technology (GMT) invite you to participate in the Sponsorship Program for the 25th International Conference on Offshore Mechanics and Arctic Engineering (OMAE 2006). The conference will take place at the Congress Center Hamburg, Germany from June 4th–9th, 2006. With an outstanding program and Hamburg as the setting, we expect this conference to be one of the best-attended OMAE Conferences. The conference will draw together members of the scientific community, researchers, academia and the ocean engineering industry from several parts of the world.

OMAE 2006 will promote international cooperation in development and exchange of information regarding marine and offshore engineering, deep-water platforms and drilling, offshore and arctic pipelines, applications safety and reliability, and other related emerging technologies.

OMAE 2006 is the place for managers, researchers, engineers, and technicians to meet and discuss new and advanced technology developments and their applications in the industry. The conference will feature educational sessions, technical presentations, an industry exhibition and extensive networking opportunities.

Sponsorship opportunities are numerous and designed to provide maximum value and exposure to our sponsors. Please review the enclosed sponsorship program to discover which item(s) would fit your organization's needs. Some opportunities are available for co-sponsorship to allow complementary organizations to join together to sponsor an event or item. We would be pleased to entertain any additional or alternate suggestions you may have for recognition. An exhibit component is also offered for the conference. Please see page seven for further details.
